

To the FCC:

As a user of XM Satellite radio, with two (2) radios, I find it to be an aid to safe travel to be able to get weather and traffic reports without having to hunt for a local station while on the road.

One of my radios is on my touring motorcycle. I sometimes travel to parts of our country where AM and FM radio cannot be dependably received, such as Big Bend National Park and other parts of West Texas.

Do not let the National Association of Broadcasters restrict the valuable service satellite radio offers.
